PLEASE KNOW that the optimal time to give the Volhard Puppy Test is at 49 days of age (7 weeks old) but with puppies leaving us at 8 weeks we can't wait that long for families to select their puppy and we feel we have a pretty good idea of each puppy's personality at around 5 weeks of age. I didn't administer the retrieving/obedience section of the test because it isn't appropriate for these little guys at 5 weeks of age, they just look at me like I'm crazy! So, while we feel this test is a good assessment of the puppy's personality we also feel that this isn't the sole method of determining a puppy's personality so I've included a summary of the puppy's personality based on daily interaction.

Abbey loves to check out her surroundings along with Lucy. Her coat is a little darker of a cream color. They follow each other all around a lot. Abbey is very sweet and at times can be pretty mellow.

INTERPRETATION OF SCORES

Mostly 1's:

This dog is extremely dominant and has aggressive tendencies. It is quick to bite and is generally considered not good with children or the elderly. When combined with a 1 or 2 in touch sensitivity, will be a difficult dog to train. Not a dog for the inexperienced handler; takes a competent trainer to establish leadership.

Mostly 2's:

This dog is dominant and can be provoked to bite. Responds well to firm, consistent, fair handling in an adult household, and is likely to be a loyal pet once it respects its human leader. Often has bouncy, outgoing temperament: may be too active for elderly, and too dominant for small children.

Mostly 3's:

This dog accepts human leaders easily. Is best prospect for the average owner, adapts well to new situations and generally good with children and elderly, although it may be inclined to be active. Makes a good obedience prospect and usually has a common sense approach to life.

Mostly 4's:

This dog is submissive and will adapt to most households. May be slightly less outgoing and active than a dog scoring mostly 3's. Gets along well with children in general and trains well.

Mostly 5's:

This dog is extremely submissive and needs special handling to build confidence and bring him out of his shell. Does not adapt well to change and confusion and needs a very regular, structured environment. Usually safe around children and bites only when severely stressed. Not a good choice for a beginner since it frightens easily, and takes a long time to get used to new experiences.

Mostly 6's:

This dog is independent. He is not affectionate and may dislike petting and cuddling. It is difficult to establish a relationship with him for working or as a pet. Not recommended for children who may force attention on him; he is not a beginner's dog.
